Term: 4 years (members confirmed by July 1, 2023 retain 6 year terms)

Current Judicial Selection Process

Governor's Choice:

Governor must choose a judge from the list of names submitted by the Judicial Council. The Judicial Council can also determine a failed search if they do not have enough applicants.

Surveys:

Surveys are sent to all Bar members requesting feedback and comments about applicants. The public is also allowed to submit comments. The comments are most often anonymous. The Judicial Council uses anonymous and confidential comments as part of their deliberation in choosing judicial finalists.

Comments are also provided to the Governor's office.

The applicant is not allowed to see the comments.

Finalists:

A list of at least two, but no more than four names is submitted to the Governor.

Proposed Judicial Selection Process

Governor's Choice:

The Judicial Council submits a list of names to the Governor for consideration. If the Governor is not satisfied with the first list of candidates, a second process may be initiated. This second list of names may be submitted along with the original list of nominees. The Judicial Council can also determine a failed search if they do not have enough applicants or if they want to re-do a search.

Surveys:

Surveys are still sent to all Bar members requesting feedback and comments about applicants. The public is also allowed to submit comments. The applicant may request copies of any comments prior to the interview. Such comments are still confidential, but the applicant has time to prepare a response or withdraw their name from consideration prior to the interview. The Judicial Council may not consider any information not provided to the applicant.

Finalists:

A list of at least three, but no more than four names is submitted to the Governor.
